

BOP Cafe was established in late 2015, just a few doors down from our current location.

It was a small and cozy space that managed to become a landmark in downtown Porto.

Unfortunately, the city changed and in 2020 we were evicted. Unable to find a similar sized space, we decided to make the jump to a bigger location in the same neighborhood where we could welcome all our clients and expand our food and beverage selection.

The new location was designed like we always envisioned BOP, a place based around music on vinyl and true American food, with different settings for all kinds of people. When Covid struck we were almost done with construction. The following months were a struggle to survive, and forced us to adapt to try to keep our heads above water.

Now with the pandemic taking a step back, we're facing huge price increases from our suppliers, and the shortage of some of the products that we based our previous offerings in.

Today we're changing again, going back to our roots to best manage our suppliers and team.

After 7 years, and being through some of the worst this industry has ever faced, we'd like to thank our friends, customers and most importantly the heroic staff that made all of this possible.
